

Along the Corridors

- a) Students are not allowed to loiter or huddle in groups along the corridors and stairways. These areas should be kept free from traffic and any obstructions.
- b) Shouting, running, playing loud instruments, giggling and the like that would disrupt/disturb ongoing classes are strictly prohibited. Students should greet teachers and superiors properly as a sign of respect and courtesy.

In the Gymnasium

- a) The Gymnasium is designed to hold any activity, most especially sports activity, for the conduct of the College's affairs. Students should enter these places correctly and maintain cleanliness at all times.
- b) Students are discouraged from standing up, transferring seats, or leaving the premises while a program is going on.
- c) Students must listen attentively. Cell phones and beepers should be turned off or set to silent mode while inside the gymnasium Center to avoid disrupting the performance, presentation, or program.

In the Campus Grounds

The campus must be kept clean at all times. Students must exhibit appropriate behavior on the campus ground to show respect for the institution it represents. Students should take good care of school facilities. The whole campus is a non-smoking area.

In the Learning Resource Center

Students are required to keep their silence in the library. Cellular phones should be turned off or set to silent mode to avoid disrupting the quiet environment conducive to study. No prolonged or loud conversations should be held on the library premises.

Section 3. Offenses and Violations

3.3.1 Inappropriate Behavior and Language

Indecent, foul, or abusive language and unbecoming behavior that reflect adversely on the image of the College should be avoided at all times. These are not tolerated in the College and are subject to sanctions.

3.3.2 Sexual Harassment

The College is committed to maintaining a learning, research, living, and work environment free of sexual harassment. This policy statement expresses that commitment in unequivocal terms, defining prohibited conduct more clearly than in the past and offering a more integrated approach to violations. However, the specification of prohibitions, cautions, and remedies in this document should be read in light of the College's basic commitment to preventing sexual harassment through education. Sexual harassment corrodes the values most central to the mission of this College. Avoiding its occurrence is of the highest priority.

Republic Act No. 7877 or the Anti-Sexual Harassment Act of 1995 defines sexual harassment as committed by an employee, manager, supervisor, agent of the employer, teacher, instructor, professor, coach, trainer, or any other person who, having authority, influence or moral ascendancy over another in a work or training or education environment, demands, requests or otherwise requires any sexual favor from the other, regardless of whether the demand, request or requirement for submission is accepted by the object of said Act.

Moreover, the College defines sexual harassment as unwelcome behavior of a sexual nature that relates to an individual's gender or sexual identity, which has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating or hostile environment for study, work, or social living. The policy covers activity both on campus and off.

Sexual harassment as a concept encompasses the full range of coercive, unwelcome behavior, from subtle psychological force to gross physical abuse. These acts may be visual (such as leering, ogling, and physical gestures conveying a sexual meaning), verbal (e.g., sexual innuendoes, suggestive remarks, sexually derogatory jokes), or physical (such as pinching or fondling). Sexual harassment also includes a request for sexual relations combined with threats of adverse consequences if the man or woman refuses. These behaviors have in common that they focus on men's and women's sexuality rather than on their contributions as students or employees in the College.

The College prescribes policies and guidelines for the prevention and investigation of sexual harassment cases. These can involve suspension or dismissal depending upon the gravity of the offense. Appendix C details the Republic Act No. 7877 or the Anti-Sexual Harassment Act of 1995.

3.3.3 Misconduct in Research or Creative Activity

Misconduct in research, research training, or creative activity is defined as the fabrication or falsification of data (such as deceptively selective reporting, including the purposeful omission of conflicting data with the intent to falsify results); plagiarism (the misappropriation of the ideas or works of others, including the unauthorized use of privileged information, however, obtained); or other unethical practices that seriously deviate from those that are commonly accepted in the scholarly community for proposing, conducting, or reporting research or other scholarly or creative activity. It does not include honest errors or honest differences in interpretations or judgments of data.

Material failure to comply with legal requirements for the protection of researches, human subjects, or the public, or for ensuring the welfare of laboratory animals, is also considered misconduct under the government regulations governing the conduct of research; offenses of this type may also be investigated using the procedures in this Section.

3.3.4 Tutoring by Faculty Members

Students should refrain from asking teaching staff members to tutor them for pay or buy educational materials from faculty.

3.3.5 Inquiries and Questionnaires

Students who wish to answer questionnaires from external agencies or businesses concerning the College should consult the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs. If they complete the questionnaire without consultation, they should refer to that office for approval. All financial data on the operations of the College intended for publication must have the approval of the College President.

3.3.6 Solicitations

Students should not directly purchase books, classroom materials, or other merchandise from faculty or staff. College employees may not act as representatives or agents for any manufacturer, publisher, business house, or corporation that manufactures, promotes, or sells a product designed for purchase by students. Neither should students engage in solicitations of any form from other students.

Solicitors and sales personnel of products other than textbooks, classroom materials, and school supplies are not permitted to solicit faculty or staff on College property. The presence of unauthorized sales personnel should be immediately reported to the Administration.

3.3.7 Unauthorized Student Activities

No student activity shall be held without prior approval from the Administration of the College and endorsed by the Vice President for Academic Affairs. Whether involving fees or not, all student activities are approved by the College President through the Student Activity Concept Paper and signed by authorized signatories. Individual students and members of student organizations must take time and effort to ensure the quality of their student activities.

3.3.8 Fund-Raising Activities

The purpose of student activities is student development. Fund-raising is only incidental to this purpose. The College discourages holding student activities for fund-raising because we are losing sight of our responsibilities, goals, and objectives, not to mention unduly burdening parents and students with more expenses.

3.3.9 Collection and Sales of Tickets

Republic Act No. 4026 as amended by Republic Act Nos. 4725 and 5546, unless otherwise provided, prohibits the “sale of tickets and/or collection of contributions in any form, whatsoever, by any person for any project or purposes, whether voluntary or otherwise.”

Only activities approved through the Student Activity Concept Paper and under existing College procedures and regulations may be the basis of collection from students, payment of which should be made on or before the activity date and course through the Cashier only. Under no circumstances shall any faculty, officer, staff, or (co-) student be allowed to collect and handle any payment made by students.

3.3.10 Unauthorized Use of the College Name, Seal, and Letterhead

No one may use the name of the College to recommend any commercial product or service. The College letterhead may not be used for non-College matters; its seal may be used only on official College publications and documents.

No revisions, tampering, or changes in the College seal are allowed. Artistic license may not be used as an excuse for any alteration.

As individuals or groups, students may use the seal and/or the name of the College only when duly authorized. As a matter of procedure, any individual or entity should secure approval from the Board of Trustees before using the College name and seal. Failing this, the use of the name and seal of the College is considered unauthorized and shall be deemed actionable by the College as the circumstances may warrant. All persons or entities utilizing the name and seal of the College without appropriate approval from the Board of Trustees should cease and desist from using the same. Otherwise, the College shall be constrained to adopt necessary measures to protect its name and interest.

As illustrated by the artist, the original design of the College Seal must be used only for official purposes. No alterations whatsoever will be permitted in the original design.

Departments, units, or employees of the College should desist from using any unauthorized insignia or seal to represent themselves. This is out of loyalty to the emblem that embodies the ideals of the College. No unit, department, or employee may use any other version or reworked copy of the College seal for whatever purpose.

However, where essential to the pursuit of the objectives of the College or when the use of the College seal is impracticable, the design of a different seal may be allowed, provided the President or his authorized representative has approved this. This seal shall not in any way supplant or take the place of the College seal.

3.3.11 Responsibility for Laboratory Equipment

The responsibility of taking care of equipment resides in users, e.g., turning computers off after use, ensuring that equipment parts are left in the same state as before, properly using equipment, etc. Users or their supervisors or teachers shall be accountable for losses of equipment or parts incurred during their use of the equipment.

Losses in science, speech, computer, or laboratories of any kind or nature should be reported in writing within twenty-four (24) hours to the Laboratory Technician or else the faculty member in charge and the student(s) involved shall be liable and will be dealt with according to existing school rules and policies.

Transfer of computer equipment or any of its contents or parts shall be made only with the written approval of the head of the IT Department or his designated representative.

Section 4. Procedures for Disciplinary Action

4.1 Observance of Due Process

A student who commits any acts or infractions considered a violation of the Code shall be given adequate due process.

4.2. Procedures

A student who commits any act/s considered as an offense, whether minor or major, shall be reported to the Head of Student Services.

4.2.1 Procedure for Minor Offenses and Major Offenses. See Article II Section 3,3.6.

4.2.2 Procedures for Misconduct in Research

Allegations of misconduct should be made directly to the Vice President for Academic Affairs who shall be responsible for determining that the procedures utilized and the reports made comply with regulatory and sponsor guidelines.

If the Vice President for Academic Affairs determines that the allegations fall within the definition of misconduct, he/she will immediately initiate an inquiry in consultation with the Academic Council. A panel will be formed in consultation with the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the Academic Council. The panel shall elect its chair. The concerned student shall be notified of the proceedings through the appropriate

Head/Dean or responsible administrative officer. The decision will then be submitted to the Vice President for Research and Linkages and approved by the College President.

A preliminary inquiry shall be conducted by an ad hoc panel composed of three members appointed. The purpose of this inquiry is to establish whether an allegation or apparent instance of misconduct warrants an investigation. The panel's membership should include sufficient expertise to assure an understanding of the issues involved in the allegations. The panel may include one or more individuals from other institutions. Members of the panel shall be appointed mindful of the need to avoid any real or apparent conflict of interest. The inquiry will be carried out in a manner that affords the respondent notice of the charges and an opportunity to be heard while at the same time seeking to preserve the confidentiality of the inquiry proceedings. The respondent is expected to permit access to appropriate documents that are relevant to the proceedings. Within sixty (60) days after the date of the complaint, the panel will prepare a written report that details the evidence reviewed, summarizes relevant interviews and presents the conclusions reached. The report will be given to the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The respondent will also be given a copy of the report. The respondent may make written comments on the report, which will become part of the record.

Suppose the inquiry panel concludes, by majority vote, that a full investigation is warranted. In that case, such an investigation will be initiated within 30 days of the completion of the inquiry, and any sponsoring agency or agencies will be notified of the decision to proceed. The Vice President for Academic Affairs will appoint a new panel of five members in consultation with the Academic Council. The panel shall elect its chair. The guidelines for membership of the new panel shall be the same as for the inquiry committee, but there should be no overlap of membership. The investigation will typically include examination of all documentation, including, but not limited to, relevant research data and proposals, publications, correspondence, and memoranda or telephone calls. Wherever possible, interviews should be conducted with all involved in making the allegation(s) or against whom allegation(s) are made and with others who might have relevant information. All parties shall have the right to be accompanied by an advisor or attorney. The investigation need not be limited to examining the particular research or scholarship alleged to have been fraudulent but, with prior notice to the respondent and opportunity to be heard, can be broadened to include other research or scholarship. Within 60 days after initiation of the investigation, the panel will submit, to the Vice President for Academic Affairs, detailed documentation to substantiate the investigation findings.

As soon as the alleged misconduct is either substantiated or is found to have no basis, any agency or agencies sponsoring the research or scholarly activity must be notified by the Vice President for Academic Affairs. If the investigation determines that misconduct did not occur, efforts must be made to restore the respondent's reputation. If the investigation determines that misconduct did occur, the panel may make recommendations as to the disposition of the matter. The Vice President for Academic Affairs shall notify all journals in which fabricated, falsified, or misappropriated data have been published, or such data have been submitted. If disciplinary action is recommended, the Vice President for Academic Affairs will forward these recommendations to the President, who will determine the final disposition.

Any member of the College found to have taken retaliatory action against any person making an allegation of misconduct in good faith, whether substantiated or not, will be subjected to disciplinary action. Should either the inquiry or the investigation shows that the allegations of misconduct were not made in good faith, those making the allegations may be subject to disciplinary action.
